

Ambassador Studdert spoke at the National Conference on Child Online Safety and Safer ICT Use in Serbia on 18 November 2013 organised by the Ministry of Foreign and Internal Trade and Telecommunications.

Ambassador Studdert shared the Australian Government's approach through the National Cyber Safety Plan to educate children of the risks and help them to protect themselves. The Cybersmart website provides a range of free online education materials with guidance for children, young people, parents and school teachers, including the film Tagged which highlights the dangers of cyber bullying.

The Australian Embassy sponsored the Incest Trauma Centre in Serbia and PRIMA in Montenegro to translate Tagged so that it could be used throughout the area.

Ambassador Studdert said "We are working with our partners to introduce these education materials into schools in both countries. I am pleased with the strong interest shown and look forward to future cooperation in this area".
